Funkin Pure Pour

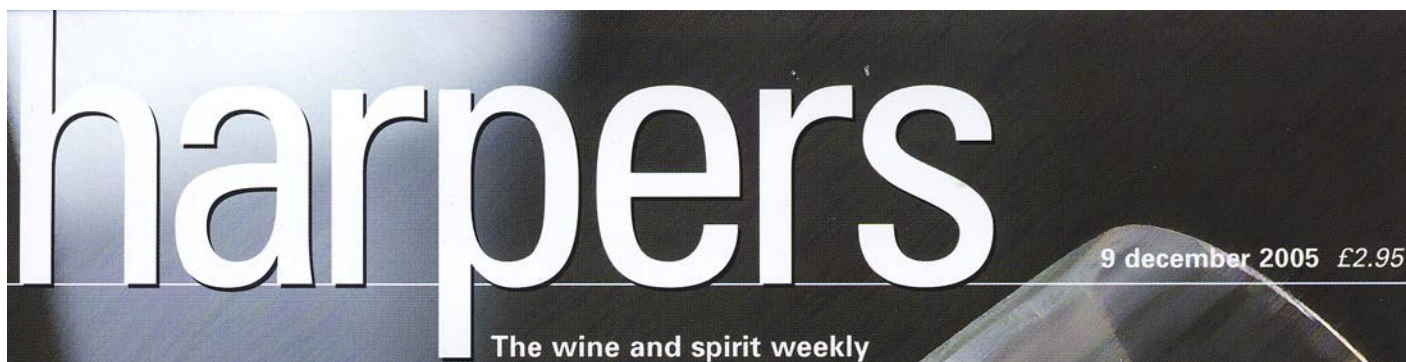

Fruit juice supplier Funkin has launched six new purées.

The new flavours are: mixed berry, blackberry, pineapple, guava, almond milk and praline. The company has also launched two new 'Pure Pour' products, in lemon and lime, after claims that its key consumers were after 'freshly squeezed lemon and lime with no bits in it'. Pure Pour is packaged in a resealable Tetra Pak, with a one-year shelf life.

Funkin goes nuts

Fruit-juice and purée supplier Funkin has launched its 30th product with the release of Funkin Coconut. The product is packaged in an aluminium tin and contains 'the milk, bits and flesh' of a coconut, according to the company.

MD Alex Carlton says that the choice of packaging allows the company to supply a product that would otherwise be difficult to store, and that lychee, papaya and other tropical fruits will be launched in the future.

Funkin Coconut retails at £21.60 for a box of a dozen 400ml tins and is available (for consumers) from thedrinkshop.com. For trade enquiries, call 020 7328 4440.
